The STAR-CHRONICLE

Wainwright — Edgerton — Chauvin

Authorized as second class mail matter by the P.O., Ottawa
Combining The Wainwright Star, The Chauvin Chronicle, and The Edgerton Enterprise in a weekly newspaper serving the major portion of the Wainwright Municipal District.

A COMMENDABLE DECISION

The decision of the Municipal Council to hold meetings in the rural area to discuss the County Act before taking action on it, is highly to be commended. This is public business, and as such should be dealt with in a democratic manner as is possible. If the County Act is good there is no reason why the man who pays the shot should not be in on all the details of the transaction. If it is not it should be summarily dealt with.

Now it remains the responsibility of the individual ratepayers to get out to whatever meetings are called, and to take an active part in the discussions. Only by so doing can the meetings be made of any value, and only by so doing can the wish of the ratepayers be made clear, so that the Council may plan its course as directed by that will.

We are confident that the Council is desirous of fulfilling the ratepayers' wishes as far as is humanly possible, and as far as they are clearly made known to them.

MERCHANTS ARE WARNED AGAIN

Just in case you missed it last time, we hasten to remind merchants and businessmen in general throughout the area that the R.C.M.P. have called attention to the fact that from early fall until the snow covers the roads is the favorite time for safelaborers and various other crooks to pursue their nefarious business. Obviously on empty and unlocked safe is the best insurance against loss. So, it is suggested that no large amounts of cash be left on business premises overnight until the danger has passed.

THE CARNIVAL IS OVER

Perhaps the most desirable feature of the annual carnival is the way in which the men of Wainwright, and the women, too, get out and work together. Of course the percentage is not great (it was suggested to us that we repeat our one-in-thirty editorial of a year ago), but the spirit of co-operation was strong. Some of the men had jobs they liked, some had jobs they did not like, but, as far as we can gather, everyone did what he or she was asked to do by those in charge, and worked with industry and enthusiasm.

It must be gratifying to be in charge of a group of such willing and co-operative individuals.

HOW SAFE ARE YOU?

Never before in history has so much effort been put into making life safe, and making people conscious of the various work that is now being done, and the need for following safe practices. In some ways our efforts at prolonging life and avoiding suffering and hardship seem to be progressing—in other the results are not so reassuring.

We now have Fire Prevention Week, National Immunization Week, the papers and the radio are full instructions for those who would drive automobiles and trucks, the health of our livestock, and as result, ourselves, is protected by laws which require vaccination, immunization and so forth, we have in the area health facilities which would have astonished our grandfathers, a public health nurse is continually on duty checking on the health of the school children and seeing that they are given all the protection that modern medicine affords.

There is no question but that these efforts have been productive of favorable results. It is not so long ago that diphtheria was a killer feared by mothers and fathers of young families throughout the district. Not a few children succumbed to this age-old malady. Now diphtheria is hardly known, and the ravages of many other diseases, including whooping cough, a dangerous killer of young children and scarlet fever, which often left a trail of after effects, have been greatly reduced.

These developments are most gratifying, and reflect well on the general level of co-operation between parents and health authorities. The standard of our accomplishment in this direction can only be maintained and improved by constant vigilance and a continuance of the co-operation.

Fires, too, seem to be less frequent than in times past, and this may well be partly attributed to a growing realization of the need for care in the home and shop. It is also due to the fact that many people have been able to improve their heating and cooking facilities, and homes have been generally improved, with less crowding, and more attention to the need for brick chimneys and other safety measures.

One phase in which safety measures seem to fall behind needs is that of the motor driver. Despite the continual urging of authorities through all means available, the motor accident rate remains high. Our own district this year has been the scene of at least two fatalities and a large number of costly accidents, accidents which in some cases have incurred no small amount of personal suffering. Obviously something must be done to improve the calibre of our driving. In many cases the accidents did not result from any particular infraction of the rules of the road, but seemed rather to stem from an insidious desire to drive a little bit faster than driving ability or road conditions indicate as being safe.

There was a time, when, if we drove at forty or more miles per hour, the old gas buggy began to make its speed known by its noisy protest. . . but now with the modern vehicle it's a little different. The sleek, well balanced jobs we now drive give little indication of the speed with which we are moving, and are as quiet at 60 or 70 as they are at 50.

The result is obvious. Unless the driver is a little bit speed conscious, he is apt to overlook the fact that he is ambling down the road at a rate which goes a little beyond either the limit set by conditions or by his own ability. In particular, and first thing he knows, himself or one or more of his passengers finds himself in a nice sanitary hospital with an assortment of aches and pains, and a pretty nurse to take his temperature. (The latter feature is the only desirable one).

But, joking aside, we must do something to cut our accident rate in this area. It has definitely been too heavy during this past summer.

Safety measures are no good at all without public co-operation. Unless we are personally willing to co-operate, all the efforts that are being made to help us out go by the board. Eternal vigilance may be the price of freedom, but it is also the price of safety.

DEMOCRACY INCLUDES ALL THE PEOPLE

Is democracy all take and no give? It almost seems so as one listens to the enthusiastic words of some of labor's union leaders. Mr. George Burt speaking to the United Automobile Workers in Windsor recently, described the trade union movement as "the best bulwark of our democracy today." Unfortunately Mr. Burt wasn't as pleased with the attitude of employers or of the Federal government who, apparently, had not looked at democracy from exactly Mr. Burt's point of view, which is almost exclusively directed towards the more selfish interests of the automobile workers and the C.I.O. There must be a lot of people beyond Mr. Burt's view, but it is hard for him to realize that these have any particular stake in democracy or are devoted to its maintenance. Mr. Burt's democracy includes immediate increases of wages and the maintenance and increase of the employees' standard of living, to seek company-paid insurance and health benefits "to a point where neither a worker nor his family will ever have to pay a doctor's bill or a hospital bill again." Mr. Burt apparently doesn't feel that the validity of contracts, or the reasonableness or practicability of demands are matters with which democracy need concern itself. We wonder how long it will be before the more seasoned and reasonable segment of every union begins to wonder if such demands are not doing the cause of organized labor a considerable disservice. Labor's gains in the past century, and especially in the last decade of the century have been so striking that it is hard to believe that sensible men would still be dissatisfied. Granted that there are further ends to gain, further benefits to which the worker is entitled, they still need not all be assured by one elaborate gesture.

Triceratops Bones Feature Of Museum

EASTEND, Sask. — This village's museum has the skeleton of an animal which is believed to have roamed the North American continent 60,000,000 years ago.

George Green, president of the Vancouver branch of the British Columbia Historical Association, says the skeleton was found four miles east of here in the Cypress Hills.

Scientists call it the triceratops because of the three prongs which jut from its forehead and snout. The skeleton of the head measures six feet from snout to back. The heavy body was similar to that of a hippopotamus.

When the triceratops wandered about the flat lands here the Rocky Mountains had not risen above the inland sea which then hemmed in the islands known now as the Cypress Hills.

A 1925 expedition to Mongolia by the American Museum of Natural History, headed by Roy Chapman Andrews, found in the Gobi desert of Siberia remains of ancient dinosaurs which closely parallel the body framework of the Eastend creature.

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA

by the Canadian Press

Canada took drastic action recently by freezing the dollar, and the world is watching our gambles.

In world financial circles, many term the move "courageous" and waited to see what would happen. So did the Canadian government. In a sense, it was a gamble, with the government betting that the Canadian dollar is good enough to hold its own against the much-vaunted U.S. bill.

During the war, a complex system of exchange rates was set up. For 11 years, the Canadian dollar has been set arbitrarily in value. The old procedure was to let the value of the dollar be determined by what world traders are willing to pay for it on the open market, and it is to this procedure that Canada has reverted.

What Canada's dollar is worth depends on what other people in other countries think it is worth. And these people base their thoughts on what Canada's newspaper, gold, wheat, lumber, and other resources are worth on the world market.

Apparently, the people who really determine what the dollar is worth have a good deal of confidence in Canada, which is encouraging to the government and should also be encouraging to Canadians.

Sets Example

Canada was able to free its dollar because its reserves of gold and U.S. dollars rose to an unprecedented $1,789,000,000 as of Sept. 30, after three years of "austerity" in restricting U.S. imports and clipping expenditures in the U.S.

The federal authorities hope that other countries will follow the lead and free their currencies also, so that world trading can get back to what some authorities describe as a more "realistic" basis. In any case if the experiment fails, Canada can always clamp the "official" rate back on again.

Meanwhile, traders showed a wait-and-see confidence in the Canadian dollar. It went up to nearly 86 cents compared to the U.S. dollar against the old pegged rate of 80. Some sources in Washington and London thought that eventually it might even achieve a higher value than the U.S. dollar.

But even if the Canadian dollar steadies at only 95 cents in American funds, repercussions would be felt by every Canadian. It would mean that things we buy from the U.S. will be that much cheaper. Things we buy from Britain, or anywhere else, for that matter, will be a little cheaper if our dollar is higher. When we sell something to the U.S. we don't get as much in Canadian dollars as we did. But there is less difference between Canadian and U.S. dollars and we aren't so worried about it.

On this count, the government made it easier to go to the U.S. for short or long trips. The foreign exchange control board eased its restrictions on travel south of the border and the $100 a year formerly allowed Canadians for such purposes has been enlarged to include any "reasonable" amount.

Big Investment
The freeing of the dollar came about partly because U.S. financiers figured the Canadian dollar was worth more than 80 cents. For this reason, and because they expected revaluation they were anxious to buy up our money.

This U.S. money invested in Canada was having an effect on our cost-of-living. Finance department officials say the "freezing" move will tend to stop the inflationary trend.

Butter Situation

The Canadian government has purchased 224 million pounds of butter from Canadian producers in the 1950 production season which opened May 7. Under its support system the price being paid to producers is 15c a pound compared to the 10c paid last year. The total cost to date is in the neighborhood of $117 million. Last year the federal government bought up almost 50 million pounds at a floor price of 10c a pound making the total cost $29 million. When these stocks were finally disposed of a net loss of $2 million had been sustained.

Buy By Grade
Many Canadian foods sold to the public are graded according to the quality. Such foods carry a distinct grade marking, either on the container or on the product itself, which indicates the quality. I'm sure that all of you have noticed this marking. If you buy by grade you may buy with confidence.

Did you know that canned fruits and vegetables are graded, this way?
Pancy Quality - highest grade, as nearly perfect as possible, packed from sound, clean fruits or vegetables at perfect maturity, free from blemishes, of good color and uniform in size, liquid clear... for special purposes where uniformity of size and color is essential.

Choice quality - slight variation in size, color and maturity allowed but must be packed from fruits or vegetables which are sound, clean and free from blemishes, liquid fairly clear... for use where flavor and tenderness are desired, but perfect uniformity in size and color is not essential.

Standard Quality - prepared from products of good quality but which are not necessarily of the uniform size required in higher grades... for use where appearance is not a consideration and where the higher grades would be extravagant.

Fruit of this grade is good for puddings, gelatin desserts or frozen dishes; vegetables are good for soups or scalloped dishes. Sub-standard quality - a low grade product packed from clean, sound fruits and vegetables which need not be uniform in maturity, color or size. To save quite a reasonable amount of your grocery money buy the grade to suit the use. If your storekeeper hasn't got the grade you want, best asking for it. There is a Dominion Department of Agriculture bulletin called "Buy By Grade" which explains how all foodstuffs are graded, and what you can expect in each grade. It is obtainable from this office.

RECORD SNOWFALL RUINS UNTHRESHED P. RAIRIE GRAIN

Wet, slushy snow has fallen in the prairie, ruining millions of dollars worth of grain. Some parts of Manitoba where the harvest was normally late, were buried under seven inches of snow, a record for this time of year. This bridge over the Red River in Winnipeg was photographed at the height of the snowstorm.

Keep After The Grasshoppers

When the crops are harvested there is a tendency to forget about grasshoppers, but control measures are just as important after harvest as in the spring when the pests are destroying the grain. Control now means that you are applying prevention, says W. Lobay, Supervisor of Crop Protection, and prevention in this case is cheaper and better than cure.

Control at this time means destruction of egg pods. Where grasshoppers were prevalent this year, shallow cultivation immediately after harvest, preferably with a one-way disc, will bring many of the pods to the surface and expose them to desiccation by wind action. In areas where both grasshoppers and wheat stem sawfly were present, shallow fall cultivation will also aid in reducing sawfly numbers.

The grasshopper survey is not yet completed but indications are that grasshoppers will again be of no minor importance in the southern and south-eastern portion of Alberta. A recent survey indicates that the Peace River country may also have localized and spotty infestations at Enlida, Piller, Eagleham, Beasmon and Glen Leslie. Shallow cultivation even at this late date in areas where grasshoppers were numerous will assist materially in reducing the grasshopper population.

If your land is very vulnerable to wind erosion you may not want to cultivate this fall. In that case leave your cultivation until early spring, advises Mr. Lobay. Many eggs will still be destroyed by spring cultivation. It is important, however, that the work be done early to allow as long an interval as possible before the regular hatch.

Farmers in the bonanza area have proved to themselves this year the real value of cultural control for grasshoppers. Last year the survey indicated a very severe outbreak in this region. Following advice from the Field Crops Branch, farmers shallow-cultivated their fields last fall and early this spring. Almost without exception the primary purpose of cultivation was for grasshopper control. The result—infestation reduced to practically a mild rating. Some of the farmers did not is often harvested before it is entirely ripe, says Mr. Birdall. Even where frost has been avoided, the crop may have been subjected to cool conditions and complete ripening may have been delayed. In many cases moisture content is fairly high, and the seed when threshed and stored is not in condition to germinate readily. Uneven ripening in the fall will also contribute to this condition. Since drying of the seed will not be uniform throughout the bin, extra care should be taken to get an average sample of the whole bin to send for testing.

Seed Germination

If you expect to buy seed, sell seed, or plant seed you produced yourself, make sure that it is good seed and that it will grow. Advise F. E. Birdall, Supervisor of Crop Improvement. You may determine the purity and germination of the seed yourself, supply a sample to your elevator agent who will arrange for a germination test and analysis, or send it to the Plant Products Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Calgary. For official grades, samples must be sent to the Plant Products Division.

With frost damage over wide areas of Alberta this year, seed testing laboratories are likely to be working to capacity in the late winter and early spring. A wise precaution is to send your sample now in order to avoid delay when the information is needed. Seed produced in Alberta, especially in north-central and northern Alberta,

Dear Editor:

As one interested in the welfare of our schools, I feel that the following extract from the Alberta School Trusts will be of interest to all:

"Section 1. Clause 2. 'Delegates the right to a divisional board or municipal district to pass a resolution requesting the Government to set up a Board. The object of the section is that no divisional board or M.D. has received a mandate from the electors to pass such a resolution."

Section 5 states that the Act shall not apply to town, village, consolidated and separate schools which are not included in the school division. The rural electors residing in these school districts will then not only elect their own boards, but being in the municipal district will also have the right to vote for county councillors, who in turn will administer the schools included in the division.

Section 14 allows the county council to appoint committees whose duties are enumerated. A municipal committee will be appointed, a school committee, etc. The school committee may each co-opt the services of not more than three electors who are willing to act as members of the committee. This in effect means that elected school boards responsible to the people will be eliminated. At the time of the election an elector will know which of the members of the county council will sit on the school committee. This is undoubtedly a retrograde step. School administration is the most important branch of local government and involves an annual expenditure of close to thirty million dollars. Representatives who are given this responsibility should be elected by popular vote and not appointed or co-opted.

The sections governing the representation of included town and village school districts are confusing and apt to cause dissatisfaction in these areas.

Section 29 states that committee of the county council all powers conferred upon them by their separate Acts, except the powers: (a) to pass a by-law; (c) to do such other things as may be reserved from time to time to the county council by by-law.

Thus the county council may at any time, by passing a by-law, deprive the school committee of any or all of its powers.

Section 34 makes the provisions of the Municipal District Act, insofar as they are not inconsistent with the County Act, apply in their entirety to every county.

Under the School Act, an elector, who may not be a taxpayer, is eligible for nomination and election to a school board. Under the Municipal Districts Act, a candidate for election as a councillor must be a taxpayer. This would mean that under the County Act the qualifications for councillors, some of whom would be on the school committee, would be limited to taxpayers. This Act states that the number of counties to be established shall not exceed four and after the expiration of four years a plebiscite of the electors shall be conducted to determine whether they are desirous of continuing under the County Act or revert to the previous form of government. There is no provision in the Act which would prevent the Government introducing amendments at any time to increase the number of counties to be established.

Mr. Gerhart when answering questions following his address at the Refresher course, made it quite plain that the chief object of the legislation was to promote greater harmony between municipal councils of divisional boards. There may be some friction between a few of the governing bodies with respect to finance and school bus roads but in general opinion seems to be that during the past three years the co-operative spirit has been growing. This statement is borne out by the fact that this year only four appears from municipal councils were registered against school requisitions, and none of these was allowed.

Your very truly,
A RATEPAYER.

LIBRARY NOTES

"This and No More" by Benedict and Nancy Freedman
This book is by the authors of Mrs. Mike. In 1915, when he was 12 years old, Lucien Sadler heard the words which were to color and give meaning to the rest of his life.
"Everything that alive stays alive by fighting," his father told him in a desperate attempt to give him the courage and the will to go on living. "You go on struggling all your life. You always lose the struggle, but you win something."

"This is the story of Lucien Sadler's life—how he struggled, what he lost and what he won.
Full of the stuff of living, of compassion, and understanding this a novel with a magnificent theme—that of life itself, in all its perplexities, compromises and joy.
"The Circle of the Day" by Helen Keller
Should a woman endure any shock, any storm to keep the light of love alive? Suppose you were beautiful Faith Miller, whose marriage seemed solidly built on love, respect, security—until she learned her husband was father of a 4 year old boy by one of her friends. What would you do—forget him, love his own, or leave them both? "The Story of My Life" by Helen Keller
Here is a book which is more fascinating than many of the most elaborate inventions of fiction. For this is the life story of a woman who from her childhood, has seen the world only through the eyes of others, and whose soul has opened and expanded to great beauty under the weight of seemingly insurmountable difficulties.

Miss Keller admits that it was with a kind of fear that she lifted the veil which hung over her childhood like a golden mist. How she managed to do so and become one of the most influential personalities of our times is an inspiring example to those who would learn the inner beauty of life from one who can never know its outward glow.
Helen Keller's experience is a shining example of what life may be for the handicapped as well as a thrilling account of personal achievement over great obstacles.

HAND-WE-DOWNS

In many families shoes are handed down among the children—a practice that may cause the recipient to develop misshapen or distorted feet. An older boy may have a short broad foot while the next little fellow may be long and narrow; the used shoe, having been broken in to the size and shape of the original owner, can no longer stretch to the next owner's individual needs and so the latter's feet may develop bunions or otherwise injured toes.

Seed Supply Low, Lawn Grass Costs At Record Level

MARYVILLE, O. — Grandfather seeded his lawn with gleanings from the haystack in the days when haymows were in vogue. He spent nothing except labor for a mediocre, weedy lawn.

This fall, something like $15,000,000 to $18,000,000 will be spent in the United States for weed-proof, laboratory-tested, specially-blended seed at upwards of $1.50 a pound. More millions will be paid for fertilizers, weed killers, turf feeders and so on.

When the bill is tallied, Americans will have the most costly blades of grass in history.

Why is this so?

Well, at the Maryville headquarters of O.M. Scott and Sons Co., largest grass seed emporium in the country, experts say it is because of a decade of poor grass-seed yields, higher labor costs, fewer acres of grass seed to harvest, more lawns and country clubs springing up each day.

Charles B. Mills, of the Scott Company, says: "Seed prices will continue high until the cycle of short yields started in 1940, is reversed by a series of bumper crops to fill the bins."

Modern grass seed bears little resemblance to the gleanings grandfather dumped on his front yard. One blend marketed by Scott contains seeds from five different countries. Their top blend contains Kentucky Bluegrass, highland bentgrass and poa trivialis. Perennial Grasses.

Bluegrass is what seed men call "an act of God." You have to harvest it where you find it—usually in Kentucky Missouri and parts of Canada. Bentgrass—the clasp-clinging type found on better golf course greens—generally comes from Washington, Oregon, New Zealand and southern Germany. Poa trivialis can be grown successfully for seed only in Denmark.

These grasses are perennial—plants which continue to grow year after year. They don't grow as rapidly as annuals like redtop or annual ryegrass and the seed yield is lighter.

But annual grasses die out after a season of rapid growth. That is the difference between high-priced seed and low-priced seed. Seedmen say you should never buy a grass seed that contains more than 20 per cent annual grasses.

"BIG WIG" AT INDIANS' CONVENTION

The union of Ontario Indians recently held its annual convention at the Rama reserve, near Orillia, Ont. Chief Lorenzo Big Canoe, of Georgina Island, Lake Simcoe, seen with wife, has advocated a royal commission into Indian affairs to consolidate treaty arrangements.

"Poor growing weather will reduce a 1950 yield already curtailed in advance by the shift of enormous acreages from grass seed production to other more profitable agricultural uses," said Mills.

"While yields have been declining, the boom in the building of private homes has stepped up seed consumption. At the same time, industry has become increasingly aware that a factory with a well-kept lawn looks better to customers and employees alike, thus further increasing demands against a shortened supply."

For a good lawn, Mills recommends: (1) buy good seed; (2) fertilize and work the ground into a good seed-bed; (3) keep out weeds so the grass can grow; and (4) sow seed sparingly between Labor Day and Halloween.

More Sheep Needed

A. J. Charnetaki, Livestock Supervisor, Alberta Department of Agriculture, suggests that Alberta farmers are missing a great opportunity if they continue to ignore sheep raising. Reports indicate that raw fleece wool has sold in Australia recently at over $1.10 per pound—more than double the price paid last year. There is no doubt that this demand will reflect favourably on Canadian produced wool.

Mr. Charnetaki, especially when we remember that Canada imported last year 32,000,000 pounds of raw wool in addition to large quantities of wool textiles.

The policy of every small flock owner in Alberta should be to retain every suitable ewe lamb for breeding purposes. As long as older ewes are useful they should also be retained in the flock, or purchased by someone in the district to start a new flock.

Flock owners requiring rams should place their orders immediately with district agriculturists or with the Livestock Branch, Alberta Department of Agriculture, Edmonton. Rams will be purchased under the sheep improvement policy which provides for free service in this connection and the prepayment of express shipping charges. Mr. Charnetaki points out that with lamb prices at 25c per pound live weight, it is a mistake to carry on with a nondescript ram. Inferior rams produce lambs of unsuitable conformation which weigh considerably less than lambs produced by good purebred rams.

The family physician should be consulted immediately if anyone contracts a cold which begins with chills, followed by fever and aching. It may not be just a "common" cold. It may be influenza, or, in children, the beginning of one of the contagious diseases.

The Olympic Club, formed in Montreal in 1912, was Canada's first club to sponsor outdoor athletics.

Will they ever strike oil in your back yard?

An exciting thought, isn't it? But of course you know the odds are hopelessly against your being that lucky. In fact, you don't expect life to hand you even a very small fortune on a platter. Or do you?

Take old-age benefits, for instance. Undoubtedly many older people really need help. But no over all security plan is going to provide all the income you and your family will ever need in the future. Things just aren't going to be that rosy.

Five million Canadians, among whom you are probably one, want and expect security and independence in their later years. And they are planning for it now, in a way that suits their own individual and family needs.

These far-sighted men and women are enjoying more of the good things of life than ever before, and at the same time protecting their loved ones now and assuring security for their old-age with life insurance.

Surely you want to help build the kind of future security for yourself and your family. Nearly 5 million Canadians life insurance policyholders are doing it now!

The Week at Ottawa

Meanwhile, the Canadian cost-of-living index was going up in August. Whether the September "baby budget" and the freeing of the dollar would save the situation would not be known for a month or two at least.

The cost-of-living index at Sept. 1, stood at a new peak of 169.5. In August it had climbed 1.5 points. This meant that it now costs 69.5 per cent more to live than it did in the base period, 1913-19.

Higher prices for beef, pork, lamb, coffee, sugar, butter and eggs were mainly responsible.

Trade Restrictions
Meanwhile at Vancouver Trade Minister Howe said that the most covers of the sterling area's restrictions on Canadian trade may soon be ended. He told the Vancouver board of trade that while there is need to steer a cautious course through current international economic complications, the United Kingdom and other sterling countries have shown greater ability to earn dollars, easing the imbalance between the two great trading areas.

At Ottawa officials indicated that the United States and Canada have recently been urging the United Kingdom that the cuts on purchases from dollar countries should be eased or eliminated in view of the improved reserves in the United Kingdom.

Navy Week
Last week was navy week, and the navy was in a good position to celebrate. It had three destroyers—the Sioux, Cayuga and Athabasca—in the Korean theatre. All were seeing front-line duty, and the men of the Athabaskan made several landings and got into the thick of things themselves.

Apart from that, the Navy had a chance to report that its air arm is here to stay. The R.C.N. tried the air arm as an experiment with the borrowing of the aircraft carrier, Warrior, and a couple of years later, exchanged the Warrior for the Magnificent.

The "Magpie" now is an anti-sub duties with the Royal Navy in northern British waters, and along with two destroyers is studying the latest in anti-sub warfare.

The Naval air arm till hasn't got a name, and it is still run by R.C. and U.S. experts on loan from their own forces. But the 18,000-ton carrier, its four flying squadrons and its shore base at Dartmouth, N.S. along with its 1,100 men, is celebrating navy week because naval air is here to stay in Canada.

Urinary Calculi

In the past few years ranchers in Southern Alberta and Southern Saskatchewan have been losing an increasing number of steer calves from urinary calculi. In these areas this malady claims up to five per cent losses, yet in Southeastern Saskatchewan, urinary calculi is unheard of.

Symptoms of this disease will first be uneasiness on the part of the animal, switching of the tail, kicking at the abdomen, getting up and down, and considerable pain. The animal makes frequent attempts to urinate and in due time the abdomen becomes swollen. Calculi forms in the urethral passage, thus filling the bladder to a point of rupturing. In early stages of the condition an operation can be performed to remove the calculi. If the stone cannot be removed, the urethra is cut in two and the urine allowed to escape through an opening made below the anus. In such cases, the animal is fattened as soon as possible and slaughtered.

Various theories as to the formation of the calculi stones have been formulated, but investigations have failed to establish any one factor responsible. Many opinions were given by ranchers in our recent questionnaire; the most successful preventatives, however, were to feed alfalfa or a cover crop in the fall.

The Dominion Range Experiment Station in co-operation with the Dominion Experimental Station at Lethbridge and the Veterinary Research Laboratory also at Lethbridge are at-

Sees Lions Eat Four hampions

WINDHOEK, South-West Africa — Five Ovambo farm laborers, coming in the bush, were attacked by lions. Four were eaten by the beasts and the fifth was badly injured.

The men were collecting wood for a fire when a lion charged them. They dashed for a low thorn tree, but the lion caught one. The others, regard- at of cuts and lacerations from the thorns climbed up.

Only one managed to reach the top, and when more lions appeared the three men below him were dragged down one by one and eaten.

All night the lions sprang at the tree in an attempt to reach the survivor. They did not leave till morning.

The Ovambo, bleeding from dozens of thorn wounds, was found more dead

1. The nourishing glass of milk from Grandma is the happy ending to this story. It started when Nature put aluminum in the earth itself. That is why this important mineral is right in the milk we drink.
2. And Nature gave aluminum qualities that make it ideal in contact with food. Many milk pails . . . many parts of modern milking machines are made of aluminum.
3. From farm to dairy . . . from country to city . . . rich, wholesome Canadian milk is being increasingly carried in aluminum containers to reach you fresh and pure.
4. And to cap it all, many bottles of milk are protection-sealed with shining aluminum foil tape. Aluminum assures freshness for the most sensitive of all foods.

No other material is more "food-friendly" than aluminum. Whenever you use aluminum on the outside of a food or a drink, there's an "inside story" of perfectly protected purity, quality and flavor.

Some natural minerals in foods and water leave a dark deposit on cooking utensils. These deposits are harmless and are easily removed by standard cleaners or steel wool and soap.

CANADA SAVINGS BONDS SPELL SOUND SECURITY

Buy Them on B of M Easy-payment Plan — Down Payment Only Five Per Cent — $2.50 for $50 Bond, $5 for $100 Bond—Balance Paid in Easy Monthly Installments Over Year.

When you buy a Canada Savings Bond, you both acquire a source of future strength for yourself and your family, and you invest money in a way helpful to our country. Canada Savings Bonds pay 2 1/2 per cent interest every year, and they are always worth their full face value.

There is no simpler investment, and a temporary shortage of cash need not stop you buying a bond. Just decide how much you can afford over the coming twelve months, up to a maximum of $1,000. Then pay a call on Mr. Smith, manager of the Bank of Montreal, at Wainwright. He will be pleased to arrange the purchase of your bond on the bank's monthly instalment plan.

Here is how it works: you make a deposit of five per cent as a down-payment. That's $2.50 for a $50 bond—$5 for a $100 bond. You pay the balance in easy monthly instalments over a year. It's a prize plan for steady saving.

The B of M also has full facilities for keeping your bonds safe, clipping the coupons and crediting your account with the interest. And, should you ever find yourself in need of ready cash for an emergency or sudden opportunity, remember there is no need to sell your bonds. With them, you can readily obtain a low-cost B of M personal loan.

Now is the time to buy your Canada Savings Bond. Guaranteed by the good name of this country, there is no sounder investment.

This Institute was held under the direction of the Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Blommon.

In spite of the poor road conditions the majority of the teachers were present.

The agenda consisted of various topics and problems, which were evaluated on by the superintendent, as well as helpful hints suggested. Several new bulletins for courses at school were introduced. These should soon appear in the classrooms—hot lunches and equipment for schools were discussed.

The fourth coming Convention to be held on 19th and 20th of October at Vermilion was also brought up.

A lengthy discussion was carried on Relating Reading, with Mrs. Fairbridge leading it.

The matter of festivals was mentioned. The secretary was to write Mr. J. Smith of Kitcoy and Mr. Oberg of Paradise Valley, inviting them to attend our meeting on Oct. 24th and give a talk each on festivals. If decided on, these festivals are to be held in the spring on non-competent basis.

Physical Education program is encouraged to be prepared by every school for each grade. The Shield will be presented to the best performed activities of any school.

A delicious lunch was served by the Chauvin Teachers.

On Friday the P.V.J.H. School sponsored a Harvest Dance in the Hall which was well attended.

Our streets received a face lifting on Friday afternoon that was badly needed after the snow and rains of the past few weeks. It is to be hoped that we have no more rain until after freeze up. All roads in the district are very rough. This applies to highways as well as side roads.

On Wednesday evening the basement of the United Church was filled to overflowing when the many friends of Mrs. James Stoddart gathered to "shower" her in honor of her recent marriage. Mrs. J. Teasdale on behalf of the ladies present presented Sybil with the many gifts which were useful and beautiful. Mrs. Stoddart thanked her friends for the lovely gifts. A very delicious lunch was served by the ladies.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McAmmond left for a motor trip to Edmonton, B.C. to visit with relatives. While away Mrs. W. A. McLean has the honor of looking after the twins—David Hugh and Donna Ellen.

We notice quite a number of stray cats in town looking for a home for the winter. This is a pity that the very tender hearted owners could not get up enough courage to put these animals to a more humane death than to dump them in town to either freeze, starve or be killed by dogs. Think it over before you do it. To our mind it is the most cruel, cowardly thing you can do.

The high cost of shot gun shells this fall has put a sort of crimp in the shooting enthusiasm of a lot of our hunters. However a few good bags have been brought in. The lucky few have got themselves a goose we hear.

Flexitex insulator will save up to half your fuel costs. Easy to apply. Low in cost. Get them at Sakars.

Letters to the Editor

The day after Thanksgiving the children of Chauvin school and Ribstone because some teachers were to have a meeting with the inspector. Why could that meeting not have been held on a Saturday? Did no one realize it cost this district about $900 for bus mileage for about two and one half hours of schooling instead of five hours? If it was on a school day so the teachers would draw pay the district would have been money ahead to pay the teachers for a half-day. Who is responsible for such stupidity? With buses late due to the roads the Chauvin and of Ribstone district has to put up with a half-day in school should be worth considering, and whoever is responsible for allowing the school to be closed at noon should be severely censured. But the ratpayers at the end of the Big Division and large Municipality seem to enjoy being bamboozled for they sure take their punishment without complaint.

G. G. SHANTZ.

P.S. It is also noted that the children to have to leave home about 7 a.m. for such short hours at school.

ANDY MacSPORRAN SEVERELY HURT IN COLLISION AT REA'S CORNER

Andrew MacSporran is a patient in Wainwright hospital suffering from severe injuries, sustained when he was involved in an automobile and truck collision at the Rea corner one mile west of Chauvin.

The accident occurred at shortly after noon on Friday, October 13th. Andy who was driving a 1939 Pontiac sedan was coming from the north and had almost completed the turn when his car came into contact with a truck, loaded with gravel, and driven by Doug Blair, which was proceeding in a westerly direction.

The front ends of the vehicles collided and the car was swung completely around and badly damaged. Andy, it appears, was thrown from the car by the first impact and was rolled between the car and truck before being thrown about twenty feet clear of the vehicle.

The truck was thrown off the road and by careful driving was kept upright as it entered the ditch.

Andy is suffering scalp lacerations, a number of broken ribs and a fractured lung. He appears to be recovering quite well at Wainwright hospital where he was brought by Jimmy Goodall. He received attention by Dr. Oakley before entering the hospital.

MINOR AUTO ACCIDENT SOUTH OF CHAUVIN

A car and a light delivery truck were in collision about seven miles south of Chauvin. The car, a 1948 Ford, was driven by Lorne Melness, of Edmonton, who is staying with his brother Freeman, and the other vehicle was a 1938 Ford Pickup, driven by Alex Fry, of Punnies. A moderate amount of damage was done to both vehicles, but no one was hurt.

The bride given in marriage by her father looked charming in a white street length Jersey dress with white accessories and three quarter length veil. She wore a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Howard Lawrence as matron of honor was attired in a pale blue gabled suit, her corsage was pink carnations. Mr. Howard Lawrence supported the groom. For her daughters wedding Mrs. Lawrence wore a grey printed dress in silk with a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Stoddart mother of the groom chose a black crepe with corsage of tea roses.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left on a honeymoon to Calgary and Stettler, upon their return they will take up residence in Paradise Valley. The best wishes of the community are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Stoddart.

GLAUCOMA—THIEF OF SIGHT

A disease which sneaks up on your eyes without your suspecting it, is glaucoma. One of its forms can be identified in its earlier stages by the gradual narrowing of the field of vision from the side of your eye while you are looking straight ahead. For car drivers, this is particularly serious, since it affects the view of other traffic approaching from the sides. Regular eye examinations by a medical eye doctor, especially on those over 40 years of age, can discover this disease in its earliest stage and treatment can be given.

The Spread In Grades

An effort is being made by the grain trade to make it appear that the Wheat Pools are responsible in some degree for the spread in prices between the grades of wheat put into effect by the Wheat Board this year. The Alberta Wheat Pool denies any such responsibility. No member of the Wheat Board ever discussed with the Alberta Wheat Pool the question of spreads between the grades.

The fixing of the spreads between the grades is the responsibility of the Wheat Board. That Board has made it clear, however, that when the final payment is made all the monies received for each grade will be paid out to the producers.

McCafferty F.W.U.A. Discuss Hall Improvements

A meeting of the McCafferty F.W.U.A. was held at the home of Mrs. J. A. Connolly on Thursday, Oct. 17. There were thirteen members present. "The Speech of a Little Boy" was read as an opening. A report on the Western Delegation to Ottawa regarding wheat prices was read and discussed. Also a bulletin on Legislation by Mrs. Taylor. It was decided to postpone the Masquerade Dance until weather and harvest were more settled. We discussed shingling the Hall and having the piano tuned, and decided a Hall meeting would have to be called to reach a decision on these matters. The quilt, which has now been finished, was shown, and whoever wins it will be very lucky indeed. Following the meeting, a very nice lunch was served by Mrs. Connolly and Mrs. Dixon. The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Johnston, hostesses to be Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. McBride.

Something For Supper

With the first cool breeze of autumn the family demands something more substantial than the crisp salads they enjoyed in hot weather. Once again the homemaker is faced with the problem of what to have for supper.

Cereals such as macaroni, spaghetti, rice and bread blend with eggs, vegetables, milk and cheese to make a great variety of appetizing things for supper. The addition of cheese and eggs make such dishes quite substantial enough for any meal, but particularly for supper.

"Cheese is another form of milk. Four ounces of cheese equals about a quart of milk in total caloric value, so both children and adults will be sure to get a good share of this daily quota when cheese is used with milk, eggs and cereal to make the supper dish.

In Canada we are accustomed to colored cheese and many people are under the impression that the white Canadian Cheddar cheese is something quite different from the colored. It is exactly the same except that the yellow cheese has a little harmless coloring added to it in the cheese vat. The white cheese is the kind they prefer in Britain where so much Canadian cheese is sold. The white cheese is sold as "medium" or "old" according to the length of time it has been cured and either white or colored will give that delicious cheesy flavour to many dishes. Apple pie made from fresh fall apples and served with a generous slice of cheese will always be first choice with the men of the family.

Here are several recipes for supper dishes for September evenings which will be appreciated in later months also. They come from the home economists of the Consumer Section, Canadian Department of Agriculture. All are easy to prepare and very good.

Sports Camera

A sign that stretches over the highway entering North Bay, Ont. reads "Gateway to the North." But Eddie Goodfellow, the ex-detrolleur now coach of the Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League, reads it another way—"Gateway to the Stanley Cup" and he has a fast, hard-skating roster to back him up.

Observers say the Hawks have shown more spirit and form in this year's training season than in the last two in the same city. No one can deny the Hawks will be worth worrying this year.

They've got the scoring punch; guys like Bill Mastencko, Doug Bentley and Metro Prystai showed that last season. Defensively, the Hawk fell down badly. Goodfellow hopes he's relieved that situation this season. The Hawks now have ex-Detroit netminder Harry Lumley between the pipes and that veteran who helped the Wings win the Stanley Cup last spring has a few good seasons left. Jack Stewart on defense would help solidify that department.

While Hawks finished fifth last year many are figuring them for a better showing if not the best this year. Things have been exceptionally quiet in the camp of the defending champion

U.S. Wool Scarce; Fear Import Cut In Event Of War

WASHINGTON—The United States has never been so dependent on overseas producers for its woolen clothes as it is now.

The question is becoming of national concern. Outbreak of another world war might cut the United States off from overseas supplies and create a critical shortage of wool for both civilian and military needs.

Sheep raising has not kept pace with the expanding production in other parts of the world. Although the production of crops, cattle, hogs and chickens has expanded sharply in the past 25 years, sheep-raising has declined rapidly.

The number of sheep on farms was 50 per cent greater in 1900 than at present. While at one time the United States produced about all the wool it needed, it now must import more than half its needs.

The imported wool must be shipped long distances, mostly from such southern hemisphere producing areas as Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Argentina and Uruguay.

This situation is getting government attention. Moves are being made to develop an emergency stockpile of wool. Suggestions have been made that the government do something to give domestic production a shot in the arm.

The sheep industry has gone down hill largely because other types of farming have offered greater returns. Other causes include a scarcity of dependable labor and increased labor costs, heavy losses from predatory animals and more rigid restrictions on grazing of public land.

Could Boost Flocks
The agriculture department says the nation has feed and forage resources to maintain 37,000,000 head of stock sheep, or 10,000,000 head more than at present. But how such an increase might be obtained is the question facing officials.

The department's survey of the sheep situation brought this comment: "In the western sheep states, where large-scale operations require specialized labor, especially trained and dependable sheep herders, many comments were to the effect that much of the competent labor available consisted of old men—40 years and older—whose future years of usefulness were limited; and that few young men were inclined to accept permanent jobs with sheep raisers, especially jobs as herders. Hence, competent replacements for the present herders were not being trained."

City consumers' demand for larger than normal supplies of meat also is keeping down numbers of sheep for wool production. High price of lamb has encouraged farmers to sell of their lambs.

The government already has started on a modest program to improve the grazing quality of public lands in western states. But measures taken so far are not considered likely to do more than encourage a small and slow increase in sheep numbers.

Canadian residents who in future, it is able to obtain permits to spend any reasonable amount of U.S. dollars for all types of bona fide travel expenditures in the United States, it was announced today by the Minister of Finance. The limitation on pleasure travel expenditures to $100 in a twelve-month period, which has been the rule since November 1927, will no longer apply.

A Form H travel permit must still be obtained and surrendered to Customs at the time of leaving Canada. If a traveler is taking out of Canada more than $50 in U.S. funds or more than a total of $100 in both U.S. and Canadian funds, banks and other agents of the Foreign Exchange Control Board will, however, be authorized to approve Form H permits for amounts up to $500 per trip for business.

Teachers' Institute Held At Edgerton Fri., October 13th

For the second time in Edgerton's history, the "Teachers' Institute" was held at Edgerton School on Friday, Oct. 13, 1950 at 2:00 p.m. The following were present: Supt. S. Simonsen, Sec. Truss, G. Griffiths, Mrs. Partridge of Chauvin; Mr. C. Welsh, Mr. J. Woloshyn, Mr. P. Touchette, Mrs. V. Burnett, Mrs. B. McLean and Mrs. Reidsma, all of Edgerton staff; Mr. R. Wilkinson, McCarty; Miss E. Patterson, Dole; Mrs. M. Grellbrok, Empire; Mrs. O. Pugh, Giles; Mrs. E. Redmond, Saddlehill.

Mr. S. Simonsen then outlined the purposes and aims of these periodic "get-togethers". He spoke briefly on the Blue Cross Plan but left it to the teachers themselves the matter of choice. It was felt that the Sub-Local could best handle this. During his remarks, Mr. Simonsen touched on the following topics: the use of workbooks, the library, the availability of certain books for enterprises, and the cumulative records.

The matter of "Remembrance Day" Observance was next discussed. The various teachers in the Edgerton Sub-Local are going to be contacted by the Canadian Legion, Calgary, regarding the sales of poppies and wreaths. Whole-hearted cooperation was promised.

Mrs. Partridge was a welcome guest. She gave us a very informative talk on "Remedial Reading" and on the procedure of organizing such classes. Judging by the number of questions put to her, we can safely say that Mrs. Partridge has made everyone present aware of the need for something to be done in regard to improving reading in our schools. Mrs. Partridge is to visit Edgerton in the near future and conduct a reading clinic.

Following the meeting a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Burnett, Mrs. McLean and Mrs. Reidsma. Thanks also go to Mr. Welsh and Mr. Touchette in helping out with refreshments.

In bringing the meeting to a close Mr. Woloshyn thanked Mrs. Partridge for her instructive talk, and also expressed his pleasure at the large turnout of teachers. "Well done", Mr. Simonsen and Mr. Griffiths are to be congratulated for keeping abreast of the times and for their patience and willingness in helping teachers with various school problems.

Would any teacher in the Edgerton Sub-Local having difficulty in getting to the Convention at Vermilion, contact the Secretary John Woloshyn at Mrs. I. Kimball, Edgerton by phone.

Smith-Shaw Wedding Solemnized At Edgerton

St. Mary's Anglican Church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Tuesday, October 10th at 3 p.m. when Margaret Sylvia Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Shaw, was united in marriage with Mr. William A. Smith of Arltland, Sask., son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Smith of Inglewood. Rev. E. Ellway performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of white allover satin with net yoke, lily point sleeves and panels of lace and satin ruffles in the skirt. Her veil was held in place with a coronet of satin and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of roses and she wore a necklace of pink monsterae, the gift of the groom.

Rhena Shaw of Viking, cousin of the bride, attended as bridesmaid in a floor length dress of pale blue tulle, shoulder length veil and long gloves. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and baby mums.

The church was beautifully decorated with golden mums and blue satin bows with a golden mum marked the guest pews.

Gene Trimmer was best man and the ushers were Gordon Jackson and Morris Kimball.

Mrs. R. Pavey played the wedding music and played "I Love You Truly" during the singing of the register.

After the ceremony a reception for about 50 guests was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Trimmer, grand-uncles of the bride. Mrs. T. Shaw and Mrs. Smith received the guests. Mrs. Shaw dressed in cinnamon brown crepe with hat to match, her corsage was gardenias. Mrs. Smith was gowned in grey crepe with navy accessories with a corsage of red roses. Mr. R. Pavey proposed the toast and was responded to by the groom.

The happy couple left on the midnight flier for Winnipeg where they will spend a week before taking up residence at Arltland, Sask.

LOCAL NOTES

Mr. Bob Faulk left on Thursday to get married on Friday October 13th — which he says is his lucky day. We hope to have further particulars of his wedding later.

A wonderful crowd turned out Friday evening to attend the wedding dance put on by W. and Mrs. Fred Forrester. They all had a grand time and welcomed Mrs. Forrester to our town.

Mr. Ernie Challenger is sporting a new Pontiac and Mrs. Challenger says he'll have to eat carrots for the winter. But I think there was a great deal more in the garden than carrots. A friend of mine gave me some corn that was grown in their garden and it was good.

Mr. Albert Wilson is home from Wainwright hospital and is looking fairly well after a month in the hospital.

Each day at noon the village was taken over by the High School. The costumes and parades were very entertaining and a few of the Juniors were very sensitive with their make up. So now the initiations are over and the pupils will no doubt settle down to hard work.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nichol and sons of Lake Wabamun were in town for the funeral of Mrs. Nichol's mother Mrs. Norland.

Mr. Bob Phillips has been home from Whitehorse for a week or so with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Phillips.

The funeral of Mrs. Norland took place in the Anglican Church Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. Ellway conducted the service. There was a profusion of flowers. Mrs. W. Kelly played the organ. All her family were here from points west of Edmonton.

After a short programme, Mrs. E. Tristie gave the tribute to the bride-to-be. The gift cards were read by Miss B. Tristie and the gifts were displayed by Miss M. Mitchell and Mrs. L. If any one has any such pictures, Mr. Innis would be grateful if they were sent to him—he will copy them and return the original to the owner.

The Altar Society held a successful supper and sale followed by a dance on October 16th. Music was by the Voss-Loy orchestra.

Charge Neglect In 281 Child Deaths

Either neglect or ignorance of the facts is to blame for Canada's 281 deaths from diphtheria and whooping cough in 1949. It was charged by the Health League of Canada which this week is sponsoring the nation's eighth annual observance of National Immunization Week.

The Health League pointed out that both diphtheria and whooping cough are preventable—through diphtheria toxoid and whooping cough vaccine, respectively. Public health officers and family doctors throughout the nation are able and willing to provide protection against these two diseases, yet some continue to take annual toll among Canada's children.

It was emphasized further that they will continue to take toll until all parents and guardians of unprotected children realized the facts and consulted their medical officer of health or their own physician in regard to the various immunization procedures. Immunization against these two killer diseases, as well as against smallpox, was provided by most health departments free of charge.

Last year there were 292 whooping cough deaths from 7,942 cases, and 79 diphtheria deaths from 798 cases—a needless waste of life, according to the Health League.

Medical science had provided the means to wipe out these diseases—it was up to the general public to take full advantage of the prevention plan, the facilities provided for their use.

The Health League pointed out further that there also is a tetanus toxoid which prevents tetanus, commonly known as lockjaw. This often is given in combined injections with diphtheria and whooping cough vaccine.
